

Signeo

Creating new signals

*Impressive result:
Signeo creates new opportunities
in visual communication.*

Sign making in the third dimension

Signeo is a new material for the advertising industry from Röchling Engineering Plastics which really sets a mark. The multi-purposed Signeo-sheets can be used for creating wordings, symbols or other graphic elements in 3D. The two-coloured sheets offer a highly creative potential for a great variety of design ideas – explore the opportunities!

Information and promotion signs

Whether extensively designed company labels, information signs or elements in trade fair construction are in demand – Signeo attracts attention!

Because it rises above the crowd, you can provide visual messages with Signeo which stand out. Stereoscopic milled elements in the surface create a permanent design. The intense colours, rich in contrasts, increase the visual attraction as well as the readability.

*Light and shadow:
The formation of shades within the milled shapes increases the 3D effect.*

There is no limit to the great variety of shapes. Besides milling into the surface also complex structures, shapes and letters can be realized. The rigidity of the sheets enables nearly everything.

Ideal suited for outdoor usage

Signeo was specially developed for outdoor applications. The sheets have a scratch resistant surface structure, which creates matt emphases and is easy to clean.

Signeo - sheets are:

- highly weather resistant,
- extremely scratch resistant,
- as well as easy to clean: even strong dirt and graffiti hardly adhere and can be removed easily.

Machining – no problem!

Signeo can be easily machined with common wood working tools such as saws, drills, mills, etc. With CNC machines all kinds of vectorized graphics can be realized in a fast and simple way.
